KENTUCKY PMA GROUP RESIGNS AT U.S. REQUEST

Cooper To Name New State Farm Program Group

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 27.—The five appointed members of the State Production and Marketing Administration committee resigned yesterday, clearing the way for appointment of a new committee by the Republican administration.

It was understood that the resignations were requested by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson. All five members had been active in federal agricultural programs since early New Deal days.

The five resigning were:

R. O. Wilson, Grand Rivers, chairman.

H. B. Popplewell, Jamestown.

M. C. Butler, Milton.

W. J. Scherm, Owensboro.

H. M. Roseberry, Paris.

The resignations, effective July 3, were mailed to Benson at Washington.

With the resignations, there developed the possibility that the new state committee, when named, might consist of only three members instead of five. This has been the practice in 11 other states where the Eisenhower administration has appointed committees since it took power.

Presumably appointments will be made on recommendation of Sen. John Sherman Cooper as head of the GOP in the state.

Wilson, in resigning, said: "As a PMA county committeeman, as a PMA farm-fieldman, as a state PMA committeeman, and for the past 4½ years as chairman of the state PMA committee, my goal has been the improvement of farm living as just reward for the farmer's labor in supplying consumers with food and fiber. That has been the goal also of those who have served with me. In some measure, at least, I feel that our efforts were successful."

"A large part of that success was a result of splendid co-operation and much hard work on the part of other state and federal agencies, businessmen, farm organizations, employees of the state PMA office, farmer-fieldmen, county office personnel, and county and community committees."

The state PMA committee develops policy for administration of the Agriculture Department specifically agricultural conservation, price support, marketing quota, and local administration of federal crop insurance.

THE LEACH FAMILY SCIONS OF NOBLE LINE

By J. M. Geveden
Grassy Creek, Ky.

Though never having been brought to public attention, the Leach family is one of the largest of this section of our country. I can trace their genealogy back to the year 1017 when Conrad II was crowned Emperor of Germany by the Pope of Rome. This, of course, is through the great family of Chastains.

Just a few years ago plain markers stood at the graves of William Leach and Judith Chastain Leach on the old home farm on lower Grassy Creek where they lived out the rest of life, and raised a respectable family of children: John, their only son; and five daughters: Marena, Mary Ann, Nancy, Magdaline, and Margaret.

Wrigley-Leisure Road Into Beautiful Section of Morgan Nears Completion

Rugged Scenery, Falls Make Area Good Outing Site

Raymond B. Goss, area highway engineer, advises that the Wrigley-Leisure road is being completed next week. All road way stone is now on and final dressing of shoulders and surfacing of intersections and approaches will be completed by next Wednesday if weather permits.

This road has some of the most beautiful scenery of any highway in Morgan county. The alignment follows the old Morehead and North Fork Railroad survey. The Twin Tunnel has been widened to a 24-ft. roadway clearance and the arch overhead is beautiful, with North Fork of Licking River passing through it on the left side. This tunnel was made through approximately 100 feet of solid rock in 1907 when the railroad was constructed.

There is some nice fishing water along this road. One pond has some very large fish that never have been caught and it is rumored that some are over four feet in length.

Parking areas are being provided along the road for tourists and there is one very beautiful falls 1.6 miles down from Ky. 7 at Wrigley. Anyone wishing to go over this new highway during

YOUTH DROWNS AT HAZEL GREEN

HAZEL GREEN, Ky., June 29.—John Taubbee, Jr., 19, of Hazel Green, drowned Sunday afternoon in a farm pond near here while his father, who could barely swim, tried vainly to reach him.

John, his father, a brother, Emerson Taubbee, 17, and Ollie Proffitt were swimming in a pond on the farm of James I. Hollon, Jr. when John began calling for help.

His father began swimming toward him, but the youth sank from sight in the water, made muddily by recent thunderstorms, before the father reached him. The youth's cries for help attracted others to the scene and a human chain was formed to probe the pond. About 45 minutes later, the body was located by Elmer Clark and James Bernard Buchanan dived into the seven-foot deep water and pulled the body ashore.

Attempts to revive the youth with artificial respiration failed. Other survivors include his mother; two other brothers, Everett Taubbee, California, and Taylor Taubbee, Lacy Creek; two sisters and his paternal grandmother.

Man, 83, Suffers Stroke

"Uncle" Berry James, 83, of Hazel Green, was returned to his home Sunday from West Liberty hospital where he was admitted Friday after suffering a stroke. A doctor described his condition as serious.

Rev. James L. West, 100, Once Pastor Here, Dies

Rev. James L. West, one of Mt. Sterling's two centenarians and a former Methodist pastor in West Liberty, died at the Mary Chiles Hospital in Mt. Sterling June 24 at the age of 100.

A retired physician and minister, he was born over a century ago at Louisville. Besides practicing medicine for 27 years and preaching for over 50, he still found time in his busy life to establish a small junior college and act as its superintendent and work as a structural engineer.

He had been a member of the Kentucky Methodist Conference in 1888. He once served as pastor in West Liberty during his early ministry.

Said the Mt. Sterling Advocate:

Mr. West was a Christian and he lived a Christian life, a life that was a full, strong life always flowing toward his God, sweeping aside and engulfing obstacles and adversities, always clear, fresh and reviving. He loved and was loved, respected and was respected, believed and was believed. He lived through many wars, he saw the birth of the airplane, the automobile, the machine age and finally the atomic age. The long, long trail he travelled winds into the dim and distant past to events most of us know only from history books. At the end of that trail he could still face his God, eager and unafraid.

Seven Errors Cost Morgan Countians 8-6 Loss At Irvine

(By Rudy Franklin)

Irvine took advantage of seven West Liberty errors to score four unearned runs in their 8-6 victory over the Morgan countians at Irvine last Sunday.

West Liberty outhit their opponents 14 to 10 but Irvine's unearned runs along with their four earned tallies proved enough to hand the Morgan countians their fifth loss of the season.

Hogg Spencer went the route for West Liberty as he allowed 10 base hits and four earned runs. Although 10 safeties were collected from Spencer's offerings, the loss must be charged almost entirely against the team's poor hitting.

Merle Nickell kept his bat singing as he collected a triple, a double and two singles in four times to the plate. Nickell currently is leading the local team in batting with a neat 400 percent. Glenn Stanley is second with .392.

The West Liberty bats began ringing as the first five men up in the top of the first inning banged out clean hits. The rally was stopped abruptly however as Stacy was caught out at first base.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Edward Stacy; four sons, Raymond, George, Harold, Darrell and Elmira Fairburn, O.; and Paul at Miamiburg, O., three daughters, Letta of Fairburn, O., and Betty and Shirley at Caney.

Funeral was conducted June 28 at Walnut Grove church, Revs. Wardie Craft and Jas. Deborde officiating. Burial was in the family cemetery at Stacy Fork under direction of the Potter Funeral Home.

COMPLETES BASIC

Pvt. Darrel R. Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Perry of Pomp, completed basic training at the Quartermaster Replacement Training Center at Fort Lee, Va. on June 27.

LATE NITROGEN INJURES TOBACCO

It is getting late to add nitrogen to tobacco. If a high rate of nitrogen fertilizer is used on tobacco now, it may result in the tobacco staying green until frost and cutting up too ready and heavy. Of course tobacco still to be set must be fertilized but in such cases all the fertilizer should be applied before the tobacco is set. Do not sidedress tobacco with nitrogen after June 25 unless the amount of nitrogen already used is very low.

Use Transplanting Solution With Care

Buck Williams of Elamton reports that he killed some tobacco plants by using too high concentration of lindane in the setting water. Clarence Smith of Jeptha killed some plants in sandy soil by using both the transplanting solution and liquid fertilizer in the setting water. Use these materials strictly according to direction and it is best to try them in small plots.

Pleasant Run Community Solves Long Neglect of Rural Cemetery With Old-Time Workin' May 30

Survivors Beautify Cemetery; Lunch Is Served All Workers

By John D. Engle, Jr.

"There is a remembrance of the dead, to which we turn even from the charms of the living. These we would not exchange for the song of pleasure or the bursts of revelry."

—Washington Irving

PARTS OF the cemetery looked like this before being cleared off

AFTER the "working" the cemetery took on a new appearance

Lexie Engle, all of Yocum, and Sandford Whitt of Zag.

Both noon and evening meals were served picnic style, "on the ground," by the following: Mrs. C. B. Engle, Mrs. Elmer Lewis, Mrs. Suda Lewis, Mrs. Jim F. Engle, Mrs. J. D. Engle, Jr., Mrs. Onzie Engle, and Miss Mildred Wilbur.

Following the noon meal, a memorial service was conducted by the Rev. W. M. Pope, Pastor of the Methodist Church, West Liberty.

The work that remained to be done on the fence was completed the following day. But other plans and projects grew out of this one. With the remaining part of the fund, the contributors agreed to buy grass seed and fertilizer and have the entire cemetery sowed in grass. It was also suggested that a power mower be bought later to keep the grass mowed.

Plans were suggested for making a better road to the cemetery so that ambulances and other cars may be able to reach it any time of year. Interested people are now looking forward to a permanent fund devoted to the upkeep of the cemetery at all times.

Some interesting reading is ahead for Courier readers.

A five-column story of the exploits of Morgan county's top war hero, Maj. William E. Barber written for the National Police Gazette by a Sergeant who served under the Morgan Marine Major, will be republished soon through special permission by the publisher of the magazine. Maj. Barber was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor last year for heroic service in the Korean War while leading a company of Marines in the Chosin Reservoir section in the winter of 1950-51.

Judge Edward C. O'Rear is preparing an historical article that will be of profound interest to Morgan countians. It will be titled "The Settlement of the Upper Licking River Valley." Judge O'Rear has contributed a number of valuable historical articles on early Morgan history that have been read and preserved by hundreds of Courier readers.

Dr. Adolphus Gilliam, Morgan native who is now pastor of the First Methodist church in Lexington, is resuming his column "Around the Family Circle" which he had to drop temporarily due to the increased amount of work developing upon him in setting up the new Kentucky Youth Authority of which he is a member. This column has been an inspiring one for our readers.

J. M. Gevedon of Grassy Creek, Morgan county's foremost genealogist, is contributing an article on some early Morgan families. These are always of wide interest.

A list of Revolutionary War pensioners living in Morgan in 1840 and a list of Revolutionary War veterans who applied for pensions from Morgan has been prepared by Mrs. Georgia F. Taylor of Aberdeen, Md., a loyal Courier reader. These will be of great historic value.

A short biography of Judge John Will Perry, Morgan county Civil War hero who served with General John Hunt Morgan's Cavalry, is published in this issue.

The complete muster rolls of Companies A, B, C, D, and E of the Fifth Kentucky Regiment, Confederate States Army, organized in West Liberty by Col. A. J. May, has been obtained for us by Congressman Carl D. Perkins from the National Archivist in Washington and will be published soon. The Courier already has a story of the exploits of this valiant band of Morgan Confederates written by Judge O'Rear and has obtained pictures of most of the officers of the regiment, which will be published as a part of this Civil War record.

Mrs. Irma Haney, regent of the Morgan County chapter Daughters of the American Revolution, has obtained factual data on the lineage of another Revolutionary War veteran in Morgan county, Thomas Lewis, which will be published soon in connection with a story about the DAR's plan to erect a marker at his grave near Pomp.

The Courier publisher appreciates the cooperation of so many Morgan countians and former residents in his plan to present a well-rounded and interesting community paper as well as feature stories on as much of Morgan county's early history as can be obtained.

BEAUTIFYING RURAL CEMETERIES

Beautification of the rural cemetery at Pleasant Run near Yocum last Memorial Day, an account of which is carried on page 3 of the Courier this week, points eloquently to the great good that can be accomplished by a community working together with a common purpose.

For many years, John D. Engle, Jr. says in his article, people had talked of beautifying the rural cemetery, and all agreed it should be done, but no one took the initiative to start the project—that is until this year.

When two women, Mrs. C. B. Engle of Xenia, Ohio and Mrs. Elmer Lewis of Yocum took up the project, they found everyone more than willing to help. Letters to all who had loved ones buried in the cemetery brought in more cash than was needed to buy fencing, etc. A community working on Memorial Day, carried out in the old-time way of house raisings, etc. did the rest. The cemetery was cleaned of briars and bushes, then fenced, and now the community plans to sow it in grass, buy a power mower and have an all-season road built.

Another rural community in Morgan has maintained its cemetery in a more beautiful manner than any city cemetery. We refer to the beautiful Grassy Lick cemetery on Grassy Creek where a community organization has for many years maintained its cemetery in a fashion that might well be emulated by all rural communities.

Unkept, briar-infested cemeteries on knolls and hills in any community not only are unsightly but bespeak loudly the oversight, yeas the neglect, of citizens and particularly the survivors of those buried there.

Every cemetery in Morgan county can be beautified in the manner followed by the Pleasant Run community. We salute the citizens of Pleasant Run and hope more communities follow their noble work.

DR. ADOLPHUS GILLIAM

WHAT RELIGION DOES FOR US

Someone asked me the other day very pointedly, "Preacher, what does religion do for us anyhow? I have heard so many things that seem to run counter-current that it disturbs you and confuses you. What does it really do for you?" That question kept bearing on my mind because personally my interest and my deep concern as to the relationships of people is that they have the right kind of a pure and unadulterated religion. In trying to answer this it is such a broad thing that you have to be careful lest you spread yourself so thin that nothing is left, and I am not going to try to do that. I am going to point directly to some of the important things about religion. Now the truth is, to the surprise of a lot of people, everybody is religious. You do not find any irreligious or non-religious people. The word religion means to bind back to. It does not say what you are going to have as the highest ambition or devotion in your life but everybody has that. It can be most anything; it can be even a pool table or a dollar or a farm or an estate or anything that he wants to make the highest worship of his life and that is his religion. So, when people tell you that they are not religious they do not understand what religion is.

The question that was asked by this man was, "What does religion that you talk about and that the ministers talk about do for you?" And of course he is talking about the kind of religion that binds the spirit of man back to his God and the God of the universe, the God of heaven, the kind of God that was revealed to us through Jesus Christ. Now let me just say this before I answer that question, that this is possible; even people who claim this to be their religion can be far from living it or even having it as a part of their life. They can make it as a profession because it is so easy for a person to profess faith in God. I suppose that we could even train a poliparrot to do that but this is not the thing that we are speaking about. We are speaking of that something that is genuinely in the mind and heart of the individual. So, it is not just a question of profession that counts—it is not a promise to the young lady by the young man that is the thing that is the most important; it is really what he feels in his heart about her or she about him that really does something for them.

So then the religion that I would like to remind you of is the kind that is genuinely and with all the experiences one knows anchored in God by what they have learned through Christ and all the revelations they have had of him. What does it do for us? Well, really it is health; it gives health to the spirit and to the mind, and I believe that you will agree with me that nothing is more important and nothing more beautiful and demanding of our attention than a healthy strong mind and spirit in anybody. We do everything we can to have a healthy body. Our hospitals are filled with people and our mental hospitals are filled with people who have bodies that are sick and minds that are sick. They are doing all they can to cure these conditions, they are using medicine and nursing and all the therapies of the day. They want to be healthy in mind and body but many of us forget that we are destroying these things that we want to keep, by the things that we do. Certainly in the spiritual man, the mind of man, a good conception and devotion to the highest things of the universe is one of the most health-giving things that can possibly be experienced by man. The truth is that when by faith and devotion and a genuine consecration to God by the spirit of man he is tied up with the realms of the universe and the things of God are open for his disposal there is where he finds his spiritual health, and man cannot be healthy without it.

Marena Leach married Thomas Havens and became the mother of a large branch of the Havens family. Her son Frank Havens was seriously wounded at Chickamauga. He later married Hannah Gibbs. Her son, John Sam, married Sarah J. Vest. Her daughter Cynthia married John C. Ferguson.

Mary Ann Leach married Benjamin Gevedon and became the mother of eleven children: Wm. G. Raney C., Berry C., John T. and Joseph F., Angeline Louann, Elisabeth, Judith, and Margaret. Wm. L. Gevedon married Alwilda McClure; Willis G. married Mary C. Carter; Raney C. married Weston Tamm; Berry C. married Arta Perry; John T. married Molly McGuire; Joseph F. never married. Angeline Gevedon married Henry M. Barker; Louann married Wm. Lykins Barker; Elisabeth married Geo. W. Wheeler; Judith married Frank P. Henry, and Margaret married John W. Wheeler.

Nancy Leach married William Manning and was the mother of one son and two daughters, as well as I can remember: James M., Mary and Maren. James M. never married; Mary married Math Adams and Maren married John Adams.

Madaline Leach married Scheldt McKinney, and was the mother of two sons, William and Joseph, and five daughters: Rosa J., Millie A., Marena C., Judith F., Maria A., Rosa J. McKinney, married Will Carpenter; Millie A. married Robert Bartlett; Marena C. married Jim Fugate; Judith F. married Bernard McGuire; William McKinney married Rachel Fugate. If I ever knew whom Joe McKinney married, I have forgotten. Mariah McKinney never married.

Margaret Leach married Chas. Kilgore. She was the mother of only son: Clark Kilgore. I do not know whom he married. (Maggie McClure might give us that information.)

You can see by the above lists that the women of the Leach family far outnumber the men, and have hidden their names in their marriage with other families. Yet they carried with them the blood of the Leaches and Chastains, old families of whom they should be proud, no matter where they have landed. Their marriages have brought their ancestry into the families of McKinney, Gevedon, Havens, Bartlett, Fugate, Wheeler, Ferguson, Manning, Adams, Elam, Henry, Barker, McGuire, Lewis, and too many more to mention here, who should endeavor to look up their ancestry on mother's side of the house.

NEWS & NOTES

By SCOTT MEADE

"I've seen a lot of trouble, but most of it has never happened."

In Mark Twain's day, as to day, people had a tendency to worry about things that MIGHT happen, but most of the time never did. There is a good lesson to be learned from the great author . . . and from our experience . . . many of our worries are borrowed.

It has been said that "no man ever sank under the burden of the days YET TO COME are added the weight of living is unbearable. If we only live each hour and each moment as it comes; NOT TRYING TO MEET

THE ENTIRE FUTURE—will be so much simpler. For surely as the night follows day, the months roll on and in every situation we thought we didn't cope with is either softened

the horizon of memory or if it still exists, we have learned to live with it.

Edited By
JOHN D. ENGLE, JR.Send all poems to Mr. Engle, 326 Woodland Avenue, Lexington, Ky.

Objective poetry, that deals with the problems and heartbreaks of human beings, will find a more ready market and a wider audience than the more subtle type, though there is a place for both, if the latter is not too subtle. Of the objective, or universal type of poem is this one titled LOSOT FLYER, which was sold to the New York Times:

Stay the green summer in wing-woven meadows, Mute the soft music of wind in the leaves, Dapple the sun-wish with cloud-shuttered shadows, For under the roof edge a lone pigeon grieves. Loud was the thunder that shattered the pinion, Dark was the leather that petaled the hill, Light the slim candle, weep for the lost ones, The bright wing now folded, the brave heart gone still.

Another of this kind of poem, that may find an echoing chord in the heart of any mother, is TALL SON which appeared in the Washington Evening Star—

My love for you was shaped so eagerly, And fashioned for a boy of minor size, A far too shielding thing, it shut away The knowledge that would make you tall and wise. Only when you towered above my old I knew How narrow was my love in width and seam, Too late to spin new fabric that would go To help you build a taller, brighter dream.

Proof in the universality of a poem lies in the response it brings from the reading public. One that brought many letters, saying, "I knew someone like that," was

WOMAN FROM THE HILLS

She was a small, brown hickory nut of a woman, And when her well-meaning children brought her down From hills she knew and loved, it seemed scarcely human To cage her proud hill spirit within the town.

Where spring brought the meager kiss of a fickle lover, With never a fragrance to mark the hours by, Where days were sad for lack of the winging plover Or song of the lark that ribboned down the sky.

And yet, she wove her days with a well known shuttle, For she brought one precious

Former Resident of West Liberty To Publish Book

Announcement has been made by the G. C. Printing Co., of Big Laurel, Virginia, of the publication of a book on southern mountain folklore and folk ways. The author of the book is James Taylor Adams, widely known as a historical and genealogical writer of Big Laurel. Mr. Adams formerly lived at West Liberty, starting his work-aday life here in the Morgan House, owned and operated by Jimmy and Moselote (Spradlin) Cole. Adams was 12 years old at the time and made his home with an uncle William G. Sherrill who resided across the street from Matthew T. Scott Jr. Collegiate Institute. Another uncle James Alexander (Alex) Short operated the Salter Mill here for many years. The author of the book of folklore which is entitled "A Few Lines to Mary" is a first cousin to Mrs. Will Edith Wells of West Liberty and a second cousin to Mrs. Eva O. Haney of this town.

Adams recalls that Jimmy Cole changed the name of his hotel from the "Morgan House" to "Cole Hotel" while he was employed there, and that he "waited on" the sign painter while he was making the new sign, and how "Jimmy" stood off, hands on hips, and admired the finished job. Mr. Adams has published two other books: "Adams Family Records" and "Death in the Dark" stories of coal mine disasters.

ECONOMY DROP COMING, Farm Credit Men Told

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 25—Five factors that apparently point to a better economy were listed today for officers and employees of the Kentucky and Tennessee Production Credit Association.

Economists at an agricultural seminar at the University of Kentucky listed these points:

1. Replacements needed due to war have about all been made.

2. The building boom shows evidence of being tired.

3. Money is getting tighter.

4. Foreign demand for American agricultural products is declining.

Farm production is increasing.

Dr. H. B. Price of the university told the credit men he foresees no fundamental changes in the Government's farm policies.

Dr. George B. Byers said gross incomes of farmers are on the downward trend and costs are going up, leaving less net profits. Better management, he said, might be a partial solution.

JOHNSON-NICKELL VOWS

Miss Phyllis Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Johnson and an employee of the West Liberty Hospital, and Hansford Nickell, son of L. M. Nickell, of Canfield, were married June 20 at Stacy Fork. Rev. Ark Smith performed the ceremony. Mrs. Nickell will return to her work at the hospital in two weeks.

Ollie Fyffe of Silver Hill was in town Monday. He reports that one of his sons is in Germany.

Mrs. Anna Clay Preston of White Oak was in town Monday.

SHEETS FAMILY REUNION

A reunion was held June 28 at the Pine Ridge tower for members of the late Dave and Sarah Sheets. Approximately 100 persons attended from the states of Ohio, Virginia, West Virginia, Indiana and Kentucky. In the afternoon the young folks motored to Natural Bridge for a swim, while others had to leave for a long drive home.

Late Judge John Will Perry Was Cavalry Leader With Gen. Morgan

Scion of Early Morgan Family Loved To Fox Hunt In Later Years

(By B. E. Whitt)

One of the first families to settle in Morgan county was John Perry and family who came from Greenbrier county, West Virginia and settled near West Liberty. He had a son, Tom Perry, who settled and lived near the mouth of Elk Fork at the mouth of Coonrod. Tom Perry had six sons and six daughters—John M. Perry, Cyrus Perry, Ned Perry, Newt Perry of Montgomery county, Ben Perry and John Will, the Confederate cavalry raider.

The six daughters were Sally Pierce of Frenchburg; Maggie McConnell of Montgomery county; Rachael Williams; Frances Carter; Elizabeth Henry, and Jane Cox, wife of Milt Cox. Thomas D. Perry was born in Greenbrier county near White Sulphur Springs, Virginia Aug. 5, 1796. He came to Kentucky on his mother's lap riding a horse in 1797 when he was 16 months of age. The family settled 2½ miles from Mt. Sterling on the Maysville road. They lived there about four years and moved to Morgan county and settled at the mouth of Elkford on the Licking River.

When John Will Perry was 14 years old he ran away from school and joined John Hunt Morgan's Cavalry and became a Lieutenant. He continued with him until Morgan was killed at Greenville, Tennessee.

John Morgan was living at the home of a widow on the outskirts of the town. In some way the Union soldiers had found out about his hiding place and a small squad of them went to the house.

Morgan tried to escape by crawling under the floor and was shot to death by the Union soldiers. Will Perry was near at the time and slipped away and crossed the creek and came up the ridge with one other soldier from Owen county and fired from the ridge into the Union soldiers as they went back to the camp, killing one or two of the men.

Perry did not return home but went on back and joined his company. He later married Josephine Mothersher of Owen county and practiced law for many years at Owenton and was reelected sheriff, judge and Representative from Owen county. He then moved to West Liberty.

During the Civil War Perry came home on a furlough about the time the battle of Ivey Mountain was fought and George Morgan, and 300 of his soldiers after the battle came through to West Liberty and camped for about three weeks across the river on the Wells Hill.

On one occasion they went to the home of Tom Perry and took down his crib and took all his corn and hay. Will Perry was there at the time but slipped away and crossed the creek and came up the ridge with one other soldier from Owen county and fired from the ridge into the Union soldiers as they went back to the camp, killing one or two of the men.

Perry did not return home but went on back and joined his company. He later married Josephine Mothersher of Owen county and practiced law for many years at Owenton and was reelected sheriff, judge and Representative from Owen county.

Judge John Will Perry
(from an old tintype)

erty about 1880 where the remainder of his life was was known as Judge John Will Perry.

He was always very active in public affairs, was a forceful and dynamic speaker, loved to tell stories and jokes and to fox hunt.

Many times he would ride his horse with four or five hours following and go to all parts of the county fox hunting. When the chase was over he would blow his horn and ride back to town on his bay horse, erect and with all the grace and dignity of a famous cavalry rider which he had been for four years.

After the war he was accredited with helping to restore law and order and to place under control some of the tough elements.

The first time I ever saw him was about 1905 one morning just after daylight. He rode down the branch on Vance Fork to our home and had three or four fox bounds following. He was a very beautiful horse and was every inch a perfect horseman riding down the valley and calling his hounds with his horn. He stopped and my father and mother would have him come in and eat breakfast with us.

As a child, I remember how much I enjoyed hearing him talk and tell of the chase. Later when I came to West Liberty to school I can remember him on the streets of West Liberty sitting on the walk at the old arcade and telling stories and jokes about the fox chase. I remember he would often say, "they are not sure I do before they bury me." He would start the fox chase. If I do not get up and yell then I am no longer living."

Another story he told was that in one of the battles he rode a wild mule into the fight and the mule became so excited and uncontrollable that it carried him right into and through the Union line and he fought his way in and somehow got the mule turned back and it carried him back to his men safely. General Morgan called him into his tent and said, "Bill, I like brave soldiers, but there is no use of you being so brave, as to ride right into their camp, killing one or two of the men."

Judge Will Perry passed away at West Liberty in 1924 and was buried in the Lexington cemetery where he had a family lot. His daughter, Miss Lillie Perry, lives at West Liberty. While she has been an invalid for more than a year her memory and mental faculties are as active as a young person. She is interested in all that happens and reads daily. She told the editor how Mrs. H. B. Murray visits her two or three times each day, preparing her breakfast and taking care of her.

REVIVAL AT SANDY HOOK Willard Halcomb of LaFollette, Tenn., will conduct preaching in the court house at Sandy Hook each evening at 7:30 beginning July 11 and continuing through July 12. Day services will be held in the court house yard.

John W. Pitman of Dayton, O., will lead the singing.

Blight Hits Tomatoes

Blight has already hit many tomato crops in the county. Careful spraying every week is urged. Use 2 level tablespoonsfuls of material containing at least 45 percent copper to each gallon of water. Cover all leaf surface, stems and the ground.

Blight on Beans

Numerous complaints have been received about blight, anthracnose and some insect damage on beans. Spraying the beans with the same material as used on tomatoes for blight control may help some. Do not save home grown bean seed. Change to new crop varieties next year if it is available.

Use rotenone dust or spray with 50 percent wettable methoxychlor to control the bean beetles.
